Jan Davis, MS, OTR/L

Jan Davis, MS, OTR/L, is an internationally recognized leader in providing clinical training for therapists working in stroke rehabilitation. Her teaching style is highly effective as she skillfully combines Motor Learning, NDT, and Motor Control theory. Complex principles are easy to understand as she provides dynamic clinical application.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This excellent, 2-day course is packed with practice labs, functional treatment techniques, and patient videos for acute care, rehab, SNF, and outpatient settings.

Jan's enthusiastic teaching style encourages practitioners to utilize specific facilitation methods for trunk, as well as, upper and lower extremity control which are based on NDT techniques and motor learning principles.

AOTA defines the level of this course as "intermediate" for therapists with a working knowledge of therapeutic methods related to stroke rehabilitation.

COURSE FEATURES

- Evidence based Practice
- Rx Videos from ICU to Outpatient
- Motor Learning and NDT
- Documentation Tips
- The Hemiplegic Shoulder
- Treating "Poorly Motivated" Patients
- Practice Labs
